

In the comments to your proposal for a potential investor, you can indicate additional information that will increase the attractiveness of your project. For instance:

1. Describe the reason for the lack of data
2. The volume of work done since the beginning of the project, their cost and result
3. Information that will be provided to the investor after signing the confidentiality agreement, including information that cannot be published based on local legislation (geological information, sample and core analyzes, company ownership structure, work plan for the requested investment, etc.)
4. Your expectations from a partner or a lender and an explanation of the return of the funds spent
5. Additional contact details
